

I am pleading with you not to weaken the laws on telemarketers in NJ. I am an at home mom with 2 small children, these people would call constantly waking my children up or taking me away from time spent with them. One day alone I received over 20 phone calls. I then had to call my phone company and get the call block. Now that I am paying for this service so telemarketers have to respect my privacy, they are now listing their phone numbers so they can get through the block. However when you call these numbers its an auto dialer and you have no way of finding out who it was that was calling you. I feel I am being harrassed. I go to the store and see "no soliciting" easy as that no solicitors, however they are allowed to freely use the telephone. I dont understand. I dont want people calling me and since i pay for my phone and pay for extra services for them not to call me, bottom line they shouldnt call me and having a law in place should protect me. Now if these people havent called in 18 months they can call me?? Now i have to write down every call I receive this way i can say hey it hasnt been 18 months, you called me 9 months ago. I dont have the time for this. I just want to be left alone. I say let them use the US postal service. I can then have free will to take their offer or throw it away and it does not infringe on my privacy. Thanks for listening.
